On April 24, 1998 Emmett Davis became the nineteenth Head Basketball Coach of the Colgate University men’s basketball program. Davis inherited a non-scholarship program that was coming off a difficult 10-18 season and had suffered through the loss of their beloved Coach Jack Bruen. Coach Bruen passed away tragically in December of 1997 after being diagnosed with pancreatic cancer. In Davis first seven seasons, the Raiders have registered 98 wins which represents the second best record for a seventh year coach in eighty years of Colgate basketball. In order to find a better seven year starting record you would have to go back through fifteen Colgate coaches and find William Reid’s 104 wins from 1919-1926. The Colgate program has been a model of consistency during Davis’ tenure. In six of his first seven seasons Davis has led the Raiders to the upper division of the Patriot League standings. From 2001-2004 the Raiders finished with three consecutive winning seasons (2001-02...17-10, 2002-03...14-13, and 2003-04...14-13). The 2004-05 team finished the season strong winning four of their last six games and another top half finish in the Patriot League.

The 2001-02 Raiders enjoyed the programs best season since 1994-95 by finishing with a 17-11 overall record. Among those 17 victories were two wins over Patriot League Tournament Champions Holy Cross and a sweep of both Lafayette and Army as well as a 4-0 record vs the Ivy League (Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, and Yale). The 2001-02 Raiders became just the sixth team in the 102 year history of Colgate basketball to win 17 games (school record for wins in a season is 18).

Before taking over the Colgate helm, Davis served as an assistant coach for 12 years at the Naval Academy where he was involved with all aspects of the program. Davis came to Navy in 1986 and was part of a staff that guided Navy to a 26 win season, a Colonial Athletic Association Championship and an NCAA tournament appearance. It was Navy’s third consecutive trip to the NCAA’s. During that season, Davis had an opportunity to coach consensus Player of the Year David Robinson. Robinson later went on to have a great NBA career with the San Antonio Spurs, winning Rookie of the Year, MVP honors, and two NBA championships during his professional playing career.

When former Navy head coach Don DeVoe was hired in 1992, Davis was kept on the staff and helped lead the team to the NCAA Tournament three of his last five seasons in Annapolis – 1994, 1997, 1998. Navy’s record during those five years was a former league best 91-54. A native of Gloversville, NY, Davis played under former Navy and Pittsburgh Head Coach Paul Evans while at St. Lawrence University. Davis is married to the former Gail Beatty, a four year letter winner in women’s basketball at LaSalle University and former assistant women’s basketball coach at LaSalle, Navy and Georgetown University. Gail also served as the girl’s varsity basketball coach at Hamilton Central School for two seasons 2001-03. Gail is currently serving as the Director of the Hamilton Youth Basketball League. Emmett and Gail are the proud parents of three sons, Emmett William (7 years old), Shane Colbert (5 years old), and Brendan Wright (3 years old). They reside in Hamilton.
